Our policies on slavery and human trafficking

9. Our Code of Conduct informs staff that if they encounter a situation that might have ethical implications, it is important to alert someone immediately. This would include modern slavery violations which would implicate our Human Rights Policy. The Code suggests that talking it over with the staff member's supervisor or manager is a good first step. If that is uncomfortable, we encourage staff to visit their Human Resources representative, the Legal Department or our Global Head of Ethics & Compliance.
10. Specific contact details are provided within the Code for:
- (a) Internal Audit – VP, Internal Audit;
 - (b) Legal - General Counsel; and

- (a) call the Polaris Business Ethics Hotline which is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, the Hotline is managed by an independent third-party provider (EthicsPoint) whose trained representatives will ask specific questions about the situation and submit a report to us for investigation. Each call is assigned a reference number so you can provide additional information or check on the status at any time; or
 - (b) complete an Online Report by visiting our external, secure server managed by EthicsPoint. Staff simply click on the "Reporting Violations" link on our company intranet or www.ethicspoint.com. Staff complete a form that enables us to investigate and take appropriate actions.
12. If staff report in good faith a potential violation of the law or Code and if they cooperate in a company investigation, they are expressly protected against retaliation, harassment, or discrimination. This is true whether the report is found to be correct or results in corrective action.
13. We are not aware of any reports either internally or to Ethics Point during the 2022 financial year relating to modern slavery issues.
14. We intend in the coming financial years to take the following steps in respect of our policies:
- (a) To prepare and adopt a specific policy in relation to modern slavery to be acknowledged by our suppliers; and
 - (b) To review all relevant policies to see whether it is appropriate to refer directly to modern slavery issues.

15. We are committed to verifying that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business.

Due diligence processes for slavery and human trafficking

19. Our 2022 Action Plan includes considering what additional steps we should be taking to assess which parts of our business and supply chains (if any) have a risk of slavery and human trafficking taking place, and the steps you will need to take to assess and manage that risk.
